Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 30, 32 and 35-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ota et al (US 6,354,111). Ota et al discloses a press-forming die for optical elements. The molding die comprises of a die base body made of tungsten carbide; see col. 5, lines 1ff. The die as shown in figures 1a and 1b comprises of a plurality of protrusions or hollows.

As for claim 32, while Ota does not disclose the hardness of the molding die, applicant does use tungsten carbide for the molding die and notes that the molding die has a hardness Hv of 300 or more, it is deemed as being inherent that Ota have the same claimed hardness in view that Ota and instant application use the same material to form the molding die.

As for 36, as for the claimed step of exposing and developing the die to form a die face having a plurality of protrusions is deemed as grinding the die base to form the claimed die face as noted by Ota in Col. 5, lines 26ff.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 33-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ota et al (US 6,354,111). Ota is silent disclosing using the claimed materials as mold die base. However, at the time the invention was made it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to have use known mold materials such as quartz or mono crystal silicon that are capable of molding articles. A person of ordinary skill in the art would have substituted quartz or mono crystal silicon for tungsten carbide that forms the mold die of Ota without unexpected results and reasonable expectation of success.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The references in PTO-892 are being cited to show the state of the art.
